

Hello subscriber or prospective subscriber!

To begin, if you have been a subscriber but have not received my letters and updates for a while, I share your frustration. Your subscription is important, so read on. In the past months I have discovered a few things and learned quite a bit about email, and I will share a bit of that here with you today. Firstly, you will need to open this link and bookmark the page or save the link somewhere:

http://malvinartley.com/subscriber\_archives.htm

That page is your insurance that you will never miss another mailing of my letters. The letters will be archived on that page for a year and will be rotated through as new ones arrive.

Secondly, there are many reasons emails do not go through. One of the biggest is because of bulk mailing, which many servers have clamped down on in an effort to eliminate spam. Fair enough. None of us want to see spam in our inbox. I do not send spam or spurious advertisements. The only advertisement you will ever receive from me are offers to you and the yearly advertisement of The Imperial Astrologer Chinese astrology software or books I have written. Due to the sheer volume of emails they process on a daily basis and the fact that so many spammers use their domain addresses as fronts (because of the fact that they are free services), mail servers such as Hotmail, MSN, AOL, Yahoo and a few others frequently bounce (return) my emails. If you use one of these servers and have not heard from me for a while, that is probably why. If that is the case, contact me here.

Thirdly, if you have had your email with the following list of servers (check to see if you are on one of them) I have had to delete you from the list because the server is no longer there, active or responding. If you think this has been done in error, again, contact me directly. (here)

Lastly, Unless your email is with one of the above domains, you are still on one of the lists! There is thus no need for you to re-subscribe, and it would be pointless to do so. I have had to migrate this site because of difficulties with past servers. The present one so far appears to be much more stable and very helpful. So, I expect within the next days (from Oct 1) these issues will be successfully resolved.

As a final note, be certain to keep the link to the page listed previously, because I will be removing access to that link for the general public from the site as well as this page after I am certain the email issues have been fixed. You will still be able to access it. So, there is a clue for you: If you no longer see this page on the site, it means as far as I am concerned my bulk mail issue has been successfully resolved. If you still do not receive the letters after that, then we will have to address your situation on an individual basis. Again, contact me directly if that is the case.

Thanks for subscribing!

Malvin.
